Advances in medico-legal affairs

California physicians have been successful in having state legislation passed to freeze the present interpretation of ipsa res loquitur and to lower the statute of limitations to one year from the time of discovery or four years from the date of injury. . . .

Other legislation has been enacted to protect committee members of the medical staff and county medical societies on their recommendations and protect the records of medical review committees of medical staffs and medical societies from discovery. Legislation has also been passed to protect physicians rendering emergency medical care arising from the previous care of another physician and to protect rescue and resuscitation teams from liability for acts or omissions while attempting to resuscitate a patient in immediate threat of death.

Still other laws provide that any advance payment by an insurance carrier to an injured party shall not constitute an admission of liability and require the posting of a $500 bond by plaintiff's attorney. (Malcolm C. Todd.: Skin & Allergy News, Dec., 1971, pp. 3-22.)

MANUSCRIPT INFORMATION

Original articles will be considered for publication with the understanding that they are contributed only to the Illinois Medical Journal. The Journal assumes no responsibility for the opinions and claims expressed in the articles contributed.

Manuscripts should be typed, double spaced, and submitted in duplicate, one original and one carbon. An article should not exceed 12 to 13 manuscript pages, (including illustrations) and should be briefer if possible. Please enclose personal glossy photos of author or authors. Snapshots are not suitable for reproduction.

References should be numbered and conform to the following style in the order given: name of author, title of article, name of periodical with volume, page, month (day of month if weekly) and year. The Journal does not assume responsibility for the accuracy of references used with articles.

The first page should list the title, the name of the author (s), degrees and any institutional or other credits as well as the author's mailing address. The title should be as short as possible. Pages should be numbered consecutively. Tables are to be typed, numbered and accompanied by a brief descriptive title. Make drawings and charts in black ink. If photographs are submitted, send black and white glossies. Number illustrations consecutively and indicate their place in the text. Number, indicate the top and place the author's name on the back of each illustration.
